PROGRESSIVENESS EXEMPLIFIED

In the Pursuit of our vocation as "Community Boosters" we naturally come into close touch with many merchants and merchandising establishments, and our business compels us to be observant of conditions as they exist, consequently giving us ability to judge comparative values in men and stores with some degree of authority, and you will find the narrative that follows bears this out.

About 5 years ago a small frame building on Halsted St. between 78th and 79th Sts., which had been used as a real estate office, was rented and opened up as a millinery store. This store though humble in aspect, and meager in appointments, differed from other stores, in that its owners set out with an ideal in mind and planned all their actions with relation to the achievement of this ideal.

As is usually the case, an institution conducted along such lines, thrives and grows and this instance proved no exception to the rule.

When the Cosmo Block was built a location was offered which presented advantages that would make possible several steps toward the realization of the ideal and a change was made. Here with larger show rooms and a constantly increasing patronage, it was only a short time before these larger quarters were inadequate.

The compelling force of the ideal, growing stronger as realization drew closer, was not to be stemmed nor thwarted now, so ground was broken for a new building designed and built especially for this store with the ideal and which, when finished, proved to be a work of art. A glance at the magnificent show windows, displaying the products of the masters in millinery the daintiest of blouses and lingerie, the other intimate article of woman's attire, not outdone anywhere for daintiness and charm; and you follow your inclination and enter the emporium where the soft carpeted floor feels invitingly comfortable, the soft toned walls, the beautiful fixtures, the soft blending lights making of the whole a symphonic harmony, that is at once pleasing and restful.

Such, briefly told, is the history of the Fleischman Millinery Co.; to say that its owners, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Fleischman, are people of ideals and progressiveness seems superfluous when a review of the history of its growth is made. This growth was only made possible by the close adherence to the principle of always being first with the best merchandise to be had and a service that was at once rational and intelligent.

The present store has become a show place or a point of interest for sightseers, as was demonstrated last week when Mrs. Foreman who conducts a similar business in Winnipeg, Canada, and who, while on a buying tour to New York stopped over to visit her sister, Mrs. Cox, of Auburn Park; finding it necessary to do some shopping, Mrs. Foreman visited the Fleischman store, and was so impressed with the quality of the merchandise sold that she asked Mr. Fleischman for the names of the people supplying him with same, and went so far as to ask for a sketch of the store that she may remodel her own place along the same lines of harmony and beauty.

To bring our story to a close we want to leave you with one thought, and that is this: Here in this store you have the equivalent of any loop store brought right to you and you owe it to progressive, idealistic business conduct, to encourage its continuance with your approval in the form of patronage.

We hope that Auburn Park will have more progressive stores like Fleischman's and that their efforts will be crowned with well deserved success.

SANITARY PILLOWS.

Why One Should Be Careful in Selecting These Necessary Articles.

With feathers an ounce of prevention is worth several pounds of cure. Read the tags on the pillows you buy to see if the feathers are new. Dirty feathers, from which the lumen or protein matter in the quill has not been removed, carrying barnyard filth, mean a smelly pillow, with possible danger from disease It is very difficult to purify them perfectly even by factory methods.

Never buy pillows made of second-hand feathers. You can never tell whence they came or whither they go.

This was where our grandmother got her start. She had feathers of known origin, from her own barnyard, sun or oven baked, and she changed the ticks faithfully, often with thorough washing of the feathers themselves.

Modern cleaning establishments, using either live steam or an electro-chemical process, offer the housekeeper every opportunity for the bacteriological cleanliness of her feather beds and pillows. If the inside of the cup should be clean, so also should the inside of the pillow.

Buy only pillows made in factories which have a process for complete sterilization. One woman after seeing a film picture of the factory method of removing dirt from feathers and the mute evidence of how much it was needed wrote to the factory for a supply of the sterilized article, saying that she hadn't had a night's sleep since seeing the pictures.

Uneasy lies the conscious head that rests on unsterilized feathers!

Naturally.

DRYS PETITION SHUBERTH

Legislator Promises to Consider People on Referendum

By the Rev. W. B. Norton

The right of petition was exercised yesterday by several thousand residents of the Eleventh legislative district, in which Englewood is located, when they marched in a procession three blocks long to the home of Representative Henry F. Schuberth, at 7955 Sangamon St., and requested him to give the people a chance to decide for themselves on the liquor question by voting for the state-wide referendum bill which is up for final passage on Wednesday.

There were representatives of sixty-eight Protestant churches, including twenty-six pastors, present. Mr. Schuberth rode up to his house in his automobile just as the crowd arrived. It had assembled at the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church, at 78th and Morgan Sts., and had marched over. There were seventy-five automobiles, it was estimated, in the procession.

No Debate on Merits

"We are not here to discuss the merits of the wet and dry issue," said the Rev. O. M. Caward as he addressed Mr. Schuberth from the top of the house steps, "but we are here in accordance with the time honored custom of exercising the right of the people to be heard. Out of 1,400 townships in Illinois there are only 100 townships which are wet, and we think the majority have a right to determine our public policies."

"I am glad to see you," Representative Schuberth replied, "but I find fault with you because you did not support me four years ago when I stood for the passage of a referendum bill on all questions. The Republicans defeated the referendum measure."

Mr. Schuberth is a Democrat

With upraised hand he then spoke with emotion as he referred directly to the petition on the wet and dry referendum.

"Before God," he said, "I do not know how I will vote on this question next Wednesday, but I promise you I will seriously consider your request and will vote as I believe will be for the best interests of the people."

Supported Makes Appeal

M. C. Condit, who was announced as a dry Democrat, made the second appeal.

"I voted for you," said Mr. Condit. "We are not here to discuss the general subject of the referendum, but the referendum on the particular subject now before the legislature. The Democratic party was the first party to pass temperance legislation, and it is a Democratic principle to allow the people to rule."

Dr. Caward closed the interview with prayer.

The procession was headed by a troop of boy scouts from the Thoburn Methodist Church. They carried a banner on which was inscribed, "We believe in the personal liberty and democracy of a state-wide referendum." Ben S. Wilson was marshal of the parade.—Chicago Tribune.

Professor Armstrong of Englewood High School spoke at the Serwood Mothers' Club.

The Lionelli Club gave a dance at Ogden Park last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. H. Roskan of 7241 Emerald Ave. gave a St. Patrick's luncheon and card party at the Gladstone Hotel March 17.

The upper junior class of the Normal College gave a St. Patrick's party Friday, March 16, in the College gymnasium.

On Sunday afternoon forty-seven congregations of the Presbyterian Church of this senatorial district paraded through Auburn Park and met Mr. Schubert and invoked a petition to make this district totally dry.

The usual card party will be held Friday afternoon in the store on 79th and Aberdeen for the benefit of St. Sabina's Church.

A card party will be given in St. Leo's Hall on Thursday, April 20. This is intended to be one of the largest card parties of the year. The proceeds will go for furnishing the church.

Bits of Byplay

Oh!

The little boy from Boston had been absent from school for a week and when he returned the teacher asked him why he had failed to attend.

"I had an attack of parotiditis," replied the little Boston boy.

"You had what?" asked the teacher.

"I was suffering from a swelling of the glands near the articulation of the inferior maxillary," replied the boy.

"I do not understand you," announced the teacher. "What was wrong with you?"

"I had the mumps," explained the Boston boy in deep disgust.

Huh!

The cat ate the canary,
He didn't leave a thing;
And now the cat goes out at night
And thinks that he can sing.

Ouch!

"You players lack realism," said the colonel. "You have never known how it feels to face a storm of monster shells, any one of which would mangle you if it struck you."

"I know how it feels," said the tragedian. "I once toured South Africa in Hamlet. And in South Africa the gallery gods bombard you with ostrich eggs."

ENGLEWOOD THEATRE

Burlesque as it should be, is the catchy headline that the "Follies of Pleasure" use to invite attention to their elaborate burlesque "bill-of-fare" at the Englewood Theatre next week, March 25th.

Every ingredient that goes to make up a brilliant and hilarious entertainment has been provided and lovers of youth, beauty and folly without a moment's let-up will do well to wend their steps to the Englewood Theatre the coming week. Among the talented artists with the "Follies of Pleasure" are Clyde J. Bates, the funniest man in burlesque, without equal; Dot Leighton, whom Nature has blessed with superb charms and a marvellous voice; Violet Hilson, a beautiful and thoroughly magnetic soubrette; Jack Miller, an acrobatic comedian; Tom McKenna, the "Chauncey Olcott" of burlesque; Fred Wright, eccentric dancer and singer, and others.

A beauty chorus of thirty shapely charmers has been provided to say nothing of fifteen very catchy song-hits and a host of specialties which will be introduced during the action of two musical farces, "The Girl From Broadway" and "The Hotel Cabaret." A fortune has been spent by the Management for magnificent costumes and electrical effects, which will give a rich and adequate setting.

In the parlance of the diamond trade the "Follies of Pleasure" is a 22 carat organization and all lovers of rollicking entertainment embracing fun, without vulgarity, and voluptuousness without coarseness, will do well to wend their way to the Englewood Theatre next week.

The second of a series of social events in Miss Fenton's honor was a luncheon and "Miscellaneous Shower" given by Mrs. Mitchell at her home on Thursday afternoon. About thirty-five or forty ladies were present, and the beautiful presents given the young couple, speak of the high esteem in which they are held by their friends. A very dainty lunch was served in a dining room of pink and white, lighted with candlesticks with small shades. We all enjoyed the games and mostly watching the "bride-to-be" unwrap and admire the tokens of love. Walter George, with his glad smile, stole into the "Shower Party" just in time to welcome us and say "good-bye," and with his fiancee, extend a hearty invitation to all to visit them in their new home They are to be married the last of April.

It all depends on how you take it, though, Elsie Some of the girls left early, but we don't take any chances of missing anything so we stayed and danced awhile after the refreshments were served Say, by the way, who is that girl, who sat at the end of the table and ate all the cherries off the cake? She looks just like a girl I know, by the name of Lillian Boyd At last, we were forced to go by one of the girls who always has to be home early. Yes, Marion F., I mean you.
